

FORUM FOR ETHICAL REVIEW COMMITTEES IN ASIA AND THE WESTERN PACIFIC

WHO-TDR Clinical Coordination and Training Center (CCTC), 1st Floor, Academic Affairs Building
(Executive Office of Universiade), Thammasat University (Rangsit Campus),
99 Mu 18, Phaholyothin Road, Klongluang, Pathumthani 12121, Thailand
Telefax: (+66) 025644440 ext 1800 | E-mail: fercap.sidcer@yahoo.com | Website: <http://www.fercap-sidcer.org>

CERTIFICATION

To whom it may concern,

This is to certify that FERCAP is an organization of research ethics committees (RECs) in the Asia Pacific region that promotes protection of human participants in research. It was founded under the auspices of WHO-TDR in 2000 to build capacity of RECs.

It is essentially an academic network of research stakeholders that promote good research that are scientifically sound and ethically compliant in accordance with international and national guidelines at the same time that it helps promote Asian values.

It conducts training and holds an annual conference about the latest trends in human subject protection with institutions that agree or bid to host such events. However, it does not get involved nor does it promote any political, religious or sectarian agenda that may be associated with its member RECs or host institutions, countries or geographical areas that choose to cooperate with FERCAP.

Director Qi Lu of Renji Hospital serves as the Country Coordinator in China.

Cristina E. Torres, PhD
FERCAP Coordinator